

HorsesintheSouth.com is your Premier Equine Online News Magazine, Equestrian Calendar of Events, Marketing and Resource Guide, and Premium Directory for horse competition and event information, equine products, supplies, services for all horse lovers and businesses. We are constantly expanding and are very excited about introducing our new Subsidiary websites (see list below) that allow you to target specific equestrian markets and disciplines and our NEW Blogger Package so you can update your own site!

HorsesintheSouth.com maintains a consistent showing in top 10 search results for multiple keyword horse-related search phrases on major search engines. With an average of 500,000+ hits per month and with over 78% of the visitors returning to our site weekly, we have the traffic to give your advertising campaign great exposure to people looking to purchase or sell equine related products and supplies, looking for horse shows and events, and to advertise their events and services. The views and visits to HorsesintheSouth.com keep increasing exponentially each month since September 2007 when we released our new design as a custom Content Management System!

Our vision is to maintain a position as a top Equine Online Magazine and News Aggregator, Equestrian Event Media source, Directory and Resource Guide, and continue to publish all types of horse-related information. We will constantly strive to deliver content and services that attract and satisfy horse enthusiasts, 'fanatics' and those who are just interested in the horse/equine industry.

So we could supply you with a larger audience for your Classified Advertising needs, in September of 2007, we became part of the co-brand network with Equine.com establishing us as HorsesintheSouth.Equine.com.

Our goal is to capture and provide a complete and unique online magazine, calendar of events, special event media and directory for the equestrian community and to endow you with a valuable resource for equestrian enthusiasts, suppliers and professionals throughout the horse world and to attract a larger audience of spectators to horse shows like they have in Europe. We are here to provide a venue for all websites so they may have a single place to market their businesses. We want to join together to assist everyone who wants to provide their resources to horse lovers, regardless of their budgetary constraints. We are 'niced' in the Southern United States with our comprehensive Calendar of Events and we provide Special Event(s) banner advertising.

We believe that if we create an informative online experience for our visitors, we can convert that experience into a valuable transaction for our advertisers and partners.

Who Is Our Market

HorsesintheSouth.com is a leading horse/equine online magazine, news/PR portal, directory and equine targeted marketing company on the Internet. Millions of dollars in horses and horse products have been sold on the internet. Because of our love of horses and our lifetime involvement in a variety of equestrian disciplines from showing in English and Western riding, hunter, jumper, Dressage, gaited, trail riding, equine rescue and disaster support, and more, we speak to a very broad market that represents one of the fastest growing businesses in the US.

Our market reaches out to all disciplines of the Horse industry. Whether your business is English, Western, Hunter/Jumper, Dressage, Gaited, Breed-related, or any other riding discipline or Equine related business, we can offer you a cost effective way to establish your presence and grow online. We offer complete web site design with hosting services, internet advertising on our large directory and subsidiary sites, email marketing, photography, public relations and print media. We can help you prepare an advertising solution to benefit your business and your budget. No matter what discipline of the horse industry you are involved in; if you are a horse breeder, or trainer, or a private or public, small or large, club or association, or have a horse related business or service we would love to have you join us.

Our clients benefit from our talented group of designers, graphic artists and programmers to gain a marketing advantage through our web site designs, banner advertisings, sponsorships, print public relations and media development. Many of our clients have doubled and tripled their business by being a part of HorsesintheSouth.com. Watch us! We are constantly adding to our repertoire of services.

If You Want to 'Establish Your Presence' in the Equine-Related Market

If you want to capture the equine market, you have to talk like them, act like them, look like them...We Do. You have to understand who they are, what drives them, what makes them a 'horse fanatic'...We Do. We are representative of our target market - we work and play in the environment we serve. We love what we do and we love promoting our clients and watching their business excel from our mutual association. So, fellow horse lovers - let us help you to succeed in this booming market!
